8th article: The saxophonist Maurizio Urbani (Massimo's brother) will chair the jury. Others judges will be Dr. Paolo Piangiarelli (Award Artistic Director and record producer of the Label Philology Record Company), two members of the committee and the musicians of the Trio that will accompany applicants.

9th article: At the end of the last performance the jury will award the following prizes:

The first classified musician receives the International Massimo Urbani Award. The award consists of a trophy in order to give memory to the roman saxophonist and a recording with the Philology Record Company.

A special award will be given to the musician that will obtain the highest votes from the public, apart from the jury classification. The public can vote its favourite musician in a form that will be given along with the entrance ticket. The public will give the forms back during the first performance.

To the second and third classified will be awarded two grants that allow participation to seminar organised in the best Italian jazz resorts: Umbria Jazz and Nuoro Jazz.

10th article: Italian applicants must pay a fee of 30 Euros according to the mode of payment listed in the attached application form. If applicants will qualify for the last performance, they must pay an extra fee of 30 Euros. The total fee amounts to 60 Euros. Non-Italian applicants are exempt from paying this fee. All applicants must sign the acquittance that allows the use of audio recording during the event, for future record publications and for radio broadcast.

11th article: The organisation will provide accommodation and catering excluding travel expenses.

12th article: The organisation will not be liable for any accidents that may happen during the competition.

13th article: The IMUA will be recorded from tv SAT "Jazz Around TV".

14th article: Entry to the IMUA implies the complete acceptance of this announcement regulations. The regulations are published in Italian and English. In case of doubt, refer to the Italian text.
